Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Applicant suggested that Kienzle and Munger both provide shielding of the imager for a different reason than the one relied upon in the instant invention. Specifically, Applicant contends that the reference shields are provided to protect the imaging system from distortion caused by local magnetic fields such as those caused by navigation coils. In contrast, the instant claims provide a shield that is effective to protect the navigation coils from distortion caused by the imager. Examiner maintains that the purpose of the shield has no bearing on whether the reference shields teach the claimed shield; it is presumed that the materials used by the reference are effective to provide a two-way barrier, and as such the reference system would simultaneously function to shield the coils from the imager and vice versa. Examiner encourages Applicant to pursue amendments that would structurally, not functionally, distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art in order to overcome the Kienzle and Munger references..
